

Open Call for New Members

Lacuna Lab is an artist-run collaborative community and space in Kreuzberg. We are artists, designers, coders, musicians, performers, and creative practitioners working at the intersections of art, technology and science.

Lacuna Lab e.V.i.Gr.
Paul-Lincke-Ufer 44a
2.HH 1.0G
10999 Berlin

Lacuna Lab is looking for people who...

- work in the intersection of art, science and technology.
- are passionate about collaboration.
- are interested in a permanent membership and have time and energy to work towards our collective's vision.
- enjoy being around other people :D

What we offer...

- a collective and a space to call home.
- the opportunity to work together on innovative interdisciplinary art projects, collaborations, exhibitions etc..
- a friendly community of people from all around the world.

Get in touch and let us know more about yourself

- What do you do?
- What are your expectations of the Lab?
- What can you offer to our community?

We look forward to learning about you and your work.
Please send contact us at: info@lacunalab.org